NEWSPAPERARCHIVE®

Nevada State Journal

SUNDAY JANUARY 6, 1901.

WHAT WILL THE OUTCOME BE.

The JOURNAL was informed through a reliable source that the lottery iniquity has had foreign representatives in the State for some months who have been quietly reviewing the situation which may explain the change which has come over certain members of the community respecting the desireability of the lottery scheme as an institution of the State.

These people beyond any doubt have been seen in a substantial manner, which caused a change from a positive position in opposition to a positive position for a consideration to support the lottery amendment. In time those who run a lottery in the State will be deemed guilty of a felony, should the amendment pass the legislature and be sustained by the people which we are not prepared to believe will be accomplished.

Men who have been in the State more near forty, than thirty years have very small confidence in a majority of Nevada's legislators when coin is plenty and in sight. The hitherto unblushing imprudence of corrupt men has had the effect to place the better sentiment in the State in the back ground in a manner that has caused it to appear lame and blind before these men who have bought and sold legislators and the rights of good people as cattle are bought and sold in a market.

The lottery occupies a position should the legislature be unequal because of the presence of coin to its defeat, which will aid the better class of citizens in their opposition to the villainy, as it is not sufficiently political to devide the vote of pure men when they go to the polls to vote against it. Political success will not be a stimulating cause at the election nor will it be a means to influence the action of voters who desire good government and success in business in the State.

There will be an almost unfailing indication that a man has been bought in some manner when he is heard advocating the claims of the lottery swindle which will also be an almost unfailing indication that he is a dangerous citizen to the commonwealth and is in opposition to legitimate business industry which is one o the chief qualifications of a candidate for the State's Prison.

It has been often remarked by good men that it is a rule well established in a Nevada legislature that a majority of them when in Carson meet at the wrong place to do work for the State.

If vigilance by the promoters of the lottery scheme can be received as an indication of their opinion it is surely made up that a majority of the legislature elect should not do their work in the capital.

There is not a sane man in the State who does not believe as fully as if he knew and had seen the fact that bribery is relied upon and will be largely practiced to secure an endorsement of the work of the last legislature by passing the lottery amendment. It is known that a number of papers published in the State have received a consideration not to oppose the lottery business and are under contract to keep silent on the steal, while the work goes on that will make every decent man who reads these newspapers blush when he knows that Nevada has again been bought and sold, and the word rotten-borough has received tenfold more force than it secured when the law authorizing prize fighting was passed and became a law.

A number of the papers which have received a consideration occupy a negative position for the money received and a hoped-for additional reward, which may be a solace to conscience. It is a rule of criminal law that those who stand by in silence when a crime is committed are deemed to be consenting to the commission of the crime, and are for that reason deemed guilty as those who by direct acts commit the offense.

The legislator, if no more guilty than the newspaper man, he will have to take a positive position by voting for the amendment; but that is not all the guilt there should be imputed to him, as he will be acting under oath and under the influence of a bribe at the same time, if he receives money, which will not greatly disturb the bribe-taker, whose work for the State should be done at the State's prison.

DARKNESS COVERS SOUTH AFRICA.

The situation in South Africa does not improve to favor the British, and reports indicate that matters in Cape Colony are becoming more dark. As the darkness increases it seems the British are less able to throw light upon the scene presented by the movements of the Boers. Guns have been taken from one of Her Majesty's warships and placed in position at the Cape to defend the town, which is not assuring respecting the position which the British occupy to the invasion of Cape Colony by the Boers.

English cavalry horses are worn out from the work given them chasing Boers and in trying to head them off in their invasion of the Colony. The work done to turn the Boers has not succeeded in preventing their onward march towards the sea. Gloom in England is more heavy than a London fog, and there is not any hope from present British positions of an improvement in the near future that will favor the arms of England. The Boers continue to receive volunteers as their march continues, which is anything but encouraging to England. The engagements partake of a skirmish mode of fighting, which is more exhausting upon men and horses than regular battles.

THE SAGE OF SANTA ROSA

Luther Burbank, Whom the Horticultural Scientists Are Proud to Honor.

The JOURNAL has received the 1901 catalog of Luther Burbank's recent creations in fruits and flowers.

This is not an ordinary publication. It does not list fruit trees and rose bushes such as Ferry, Burpee and other nurserymen offer for sale. Everything this book describes is a creation by this wonderful man—something that is the result of cross-pollination, hybridization, soil feeding, provision of adaptable environment, artificial selection, constant care and, above all, the intelligence and knowledge such as no other man ever possessed along these lines.

The writer has been for years in close touch with with this "Wizard of Horticulture" and has many times visited his experimental grounds near Santa Rosa. Words cannot picture that wonderful place where grow white blackberries, trees bearing some twenty distinct sorts of fruit, seedless plums and prunes, quinces as sweet and soft as the ripest peach and the flowers! Nothing in the world like them. Callas, for instance, in 50,000 varieties of every color and ranging in size from the tiniest boutonnier to the peerless giant three feet in circumference.

Have you tasted the Burbank potato, the Nickson plum? Have you seen the dwarf sweet pea bush, the rose of Santa Rosa and the myriad of other creations of this "Editon of Plant Life."

If not, you may feel inclined to believe this little article an exaggeration

Going to the Hospital.

Dan McMahon of Verdi leaves this morning on the flyer for San Francisco for medical treatment. Mr. McMahon injured one of his limbs last October, and he is now in a serious condition, being threatened with blood poisoning.

Through the kindness of the following friends he is enabled to go to Dr. Lane's hospital: D. C. Wheeler of Reno, Camille Lonkey, Mr. Soucherau, Mrs. McMahon, his wife; a number of box factory boys and yardmen of Verdi. Mr. McMahon feels very grateful to these people.

Would Betray His State.

Senator Hardesty of Elko has declared in favor of the lottery. He says: "I am heartily in favor of the lottery and opposed to the hypocritical methods of the Reno papers."

Here is an Arnold that boasts of his perfidy. Mark him for slaughter.

LOTTERY, NOT PRIZE FIGHTING

Stuart's Mission to Nevada.

A CAREFULLY LAID SCHEME

Why This State Has Probably Seen Its Last Ring Contest.

Preparations are making to establish in Nevada a State lottery on the same plan as that which for so many years was conducted in Louisiana with so much financial success for its promoters and so much incidental public demoralization.

The particulars of the scheme are vouched for by Sam Thall, a theatrical agent of New York and a former business associate of Dan Stuart. Mr. Thall was in Carson City in November, 1899, and at that time he had a conversation with Sam Davis of the Carson "Appeal," who is fully conversant with the inside workings of Nevada politics.

"Mr. Davis told me," says Mr. Thall that the people of Nevada are in favor of the establishment of a State lottery. The State Government needs money, and the leading men think this is a good way to get it. Mr. Davis said that a scheme with this end in view was under consideration at that time—more than a year ago. He did not give me any details, but I understood that there are millions tehind the enterprise. Mr. Davis was persuaded that some scheme of the sort was necessary to keep the State Government in funds.

"There is not much doubt," continued Mr. Thall, "that the presence of Dan Stuart, the fight promoter, in Carson City is for the purpose of promoting this scheme. Stuart has caused it to be given out that he is visiting Nevada for the purpose of arranging a fight between Fitzsimmons and Jeffries, but I regard that outgiving as merely a blind to cover his real object. In the first place, there is no money to be made out of a prize-fight in Nevada. The same fight could be arranged for San Francisco or New York, and would bring in ten times as much money in either of those cities as it would in Nevada. In the next place, the only important source of revenue from a fight in Nevada would be from the kinetoscope pictures, and that business has been done to death. It is clear enough to me that there is little money to be made out of a prize-fight in Nevada compared with the gate receipts in some of the big cities that permit pugilistic encounters under police regulation. For these reasons I do not put any faith in the talk of a fight at Carson City, and I believe Stuart is there to assist in getting the lottery bill through the Legislature.

"The Nevada Legislature meets next week, and I understand that a bill legalizing the lottery is ready for immediate presentation. It will provide for monthly drawings at Carson City, under State control, and a monthly percentage of the earnings will be paid into the treasury. I do not think there will be any serious difficulty in passing the bill through the Legislature, as the ground has been carefully and quietly prepared, and the scheme has been in contemplation for more than a year."—Examiner.

LITTLE LOCAL BREVITIES

Items of Street and Town too Brief for Separate Heads.

The Reno Elks will entertain the Ole Olsen troupe.

High water is causing a big run of fish up from the lake.

Six cars of sheep and twelve cars of cattle were dispatched from Reno yesterday.

The mountains to the westward are deeply coated, while it was raining here it was snowing on the summit.

It is reported that the ice on the up-river ponds is being honeycombed by the rain and will hardly pay to store.

The project to form a company of militia here meets with little encouragement, and will probably be abandoned.

The appointments of Major Long as U. S. Deputy Surveyor-General and Sidney Reeves as chief draughtsman in that office have been confirmed.

Acknowledges the Corn.

The Hell's Herald, edited by George Rotten Vardy, says:

"We decline to descend to the level of the Reno hypocrits and fight the lottery bill because the managers have not called around with the hush money."

Hush money? The cat is out of the bag at last. In his next issue the discreet Vardy will probaly name the pittance for which he sold himself.

CUTTING AFFRAY

A Quarrel Last Evening Almost Ended in Murder—Arrest Made.

A cutting affray which nearly resulted fatally occurred at 6 o'clock last evening at the corner of Virginia street and Commercial Row.

Several men came down from the ice ponds on the swing train. Two of them had a quarrel at Verdi and, it is alleged, one of them threatened to kill his antagonist when they got to Reno. He attempted to make his threat good and smashed his man in each eye.

The latter drew a big buckhorn pocket knife with a three-inch blade and slashed the other fellow on the right cheek, cutting a gash four inches long. The cheek-bone was exposed in the wound. The cut started between the eye and top of the ear and ran down to near the jugular artery.

The victim bled profusely. He was carried into Hodgkinson's drug store, where Dr. Phillips sewed him up. He gave his name as William Black and this city as his residence. He was then taken to the Russ House. The physician sees no reason why he will not recover.

Officers Leeper and Brundage arrested the man who did the cutting. He made no resistance, alleging self defense. He would not give his name, but said he was well known here. He will not be charged until the result of his victim's injuries are determined. The man is considerably below medium height and speaks with slight foreign accent. He wears a heavy black moustache and heavy, black beard.

The Directory Revised.

Several names were omitted in the JOURNAL'S 1901 directory of Reno. Since it was issued a number of citizens have changed addresses, and a number of new people have arrived since the canvass was made.

A request is hereby made that people whose names do not appear or where there is an error in address, report the same to the JOURNAL office without delay. A supplement will be printed and distributed free to all holders of directories.

The revised addition will be on sale at Harry Davis' store and at this office for $1.25 each. Secure a volume in time as there remain but 100 more directories. tf
